

Life without internet

MILBORNE FERNANDES

Class - VII J (Model Wing)

The internet was invented when ARPANET adopted TCP/IP on January 1, 1983. And from there researchers began to assemble the "Network of Networks" that became the modern INTERNET.

Nowadays it is hard to believe what life would be like without the internet. Without the internet, staying in touch with people living far away would require posting a letter.

The internet has become one of the best inventions in the modern world. It is even difficult to imagine how life would be without the internet. Most computer based tasks nowadays require internet connectivity.

However, there existed a time when we were better enough without the internet.

The internet has many uses. The most important use of internet is for education and to get information. It provides us with various sites and various blogs that give us informative content which helps us in studies.