My Dream

My dream is to be a veterinarian. A veterinarian is a doctor for animals, usually called a vet. I want to be a vet because I want to help animals to feel better. I love all kinds of animals. But my favorite ones are cats, dogs and horses. I especially like playing with their babies. I love how loving cats are, supportive dogs are, and majestic horses are. I also want to rescue animals. I want to open my own care system for them. I want to rescue them and provide them loving homes. I want to open my own hospital for them and help them as much as I can. Animals are amazing, loving creatures that deserve the same love back. I want to take them under my guidance and see that every animal is given the treatment they need. I can't wait to be a veterinarian and help all the cute animals to be healthy and safe and loved again. Working with animals is my dream job. I like adopting animals also. My family has adopted many rescue kittens in the past. Now we have three cats at home who we all love dearly, I pet them and brush them and feed them every day. They make me very happy. The world would not be the same without animals.
