It is irrefutable that, bright future is the outcome of today's dreams and imagination. It is the need of the hour to have a reputable profession in order to live a balanced life: however, it depends upon the taste, talent and tolerance of the children. My dream is to become an army officer.

Every profession is noble and all have their own ethics and moralities. But I would like join defense force which is one of the prestigious and respected careers in my country, which I feel. Youngsters can fulfill all their professional expectation by choosing a career of challenges, excitement, and adventure as an officer in defense. Indian army is the world's third largest and its soldiers are considered best in high attitude. Their strong motivation is the internal drive to accomplish a goal. Moreover; my grandfather is an ex-military, it inspires me to be an army officer.

One can say that nothing gives more pleasure and happiness than serving your country. Saving life and making them better and secure offers a great satisfaction. Through this profession one can assure himself a healthier life style, which is one of the integral parts of our life. The army provides limitless opportunities to enhance your personality. There is a scope for higher education which can benefit your post retirement. All these benefits tend to choose defense as my career.

To sum up, it is one of the most prestigious and respected professions in my country. One of the driving forces in me to join army is the respect and love from fellow beings; and the facilities like job security, economic stability and the post-retirement benefits.
